AREA OF EXPERTISE

Kevin Doyle brings over 37 years of expertise in investment property sales to the Minneapolis-St. Paul office of Colliers International. Involved in over 500 transactions, Kevin has focused on selling land, apartments, office buildings, industrial buildings, and retail centers throughout the Upper Midwest. These transactions represent a total value of over $1 billion.

Prior to joining the company, Kevin first served as Vice President at Griffin Companies from 1973 to 1987. From there Kevin became co-owner of Phoenix Brokerage in Edina, where he specialized exclusively in the acquisition and disposition of investment properties for clients ranging from individual investors to major institutions. During that time, he completed over 60 "1031" exchanges.

In 1990, Kevin joined Colliers International (Welsh) as Vice President and has since continued to represent buyers and sellers of all types of investment properties. He has the skills and experience to successfully complete any transaction, large or small, from the simple sale of an industrial warehouse or apartment, to a complex "1031" exchange of multiple properties.
